ABSTRACT

This report presents the results of the annual survey of the geographic origins or permanent residences of all credit course students attending institutions of the State University of New York during the fall 1972 term. The tables of this report are formatted to provide geographic origin information on numbers of graduate and undergraduate students both full-and part-time. Tables provided show the numbers of students at each New York State college by county in the state, other state, or foreign country. In another part of the report, this same permanent residence information is arrayed by county, state, and country. In addition, summary tables and percentage trends tables are included which are discussed in the summary. Definitions of terms used in this report are provided in the glossary. (Author/MJM)

PREFACE

This report presents the results of the annual survey of the geographic origins or permanent residences of all credit course students attending institutions of the State University of New York during the Fall 1972 term. Beginning in 1968, the Central Staff Office of Institutional Research has conducted this extensive survey each year and published the results in two volumes, one dealing with all credit course students and the other confined to first-time students.

Most surveys of the residences of college youth suffer the problem of a valid definition of "residence". In this study, the respondents were asked to report "permanent" residence as distinct from "local" or "temporary" residence. As students grow older, marry, and participate in the community while attending a higher education institution, there is an increasing tendency for an institution's records to begin to reflect the "local" residence in decisions regarding housing, tuition rates and the like. For example, the concept of "origin" for a student working on his third degree at as many colleges is not simply determined. It may be that the assumption of a single origin is a methodological flaw of all such surveys. However, the direction of bias caused by this problem can probably be stated as follows: somewhat more students have origins outside an institution's commuting distance than the data reflect.

The tables of this report are formatted to provide geographic origin information on numbers of graduate and undergraduate students both full and part-time. Tables for each college are provided which show the numbers of students at that college from each New York State County, other state, or foreign country. In another part of the report, this same permanent residence information is arrayed by county, state and country so that the reader can find out how many students from each county attended which State University institution. In addition, summary tables and percentage trends tables are included which are discussed in the summary on the following pages. Definitions of terms used in this report are provided in the glossary at the end of the book.

SUMMARY

The data provided in this report is limited to the facts of the geographic origins of the students. The reasons behind the distributions in the tables are complex and often unique to a particular institution and area. This report can only provide the basic data for further studies and in this summary point out some of the patterns that emerge from the data.

One of the questions that geographic origins information seeks to answer is how many of the students at a particular college have their permanent residence in the local area of that college. The area of the institution's location is the county for all types of colleges except the community colleges. When the enrollments are arrayed as in Table 1 by type of college, significant variations show up.

More students at University Centers (43.3% of total enrollment) have permanent residences in the county of the institution's location than students at the University Colleges (28.7%). In Table 2, showing full-time enrollment only, the comparison remains the same but the percentages drop to 33.3% of students at University Centers and 21.2% of students at University Colleges. While the majority of part-time students are local residents, the tables for some individual colleges show a remarkable number of part-time students from out-of-county permanent residences. Some, but not all, of this is due to the college's location being very close to a county line.

Among the senior institutions, the Health Sciences Centers have the highest percentage (53.9% of total enrollment) of their students coming from their local areas. On the other hand, the specialized and statutory colleges show the lowest percentages of this kind of student, 23% and 11.2%, respectively.

At the two-year colleges, the percent of students from the area of the institution's location varies greatly from the Agricultural and Technical Colleges' 31.2% of total enrollment to the Community Colleges' 85.5% of total enrollment. The difference in the definition of "location" as noted in the footnote on page 3 must be a factor in this variation as is the special mandate of the community colleges to serve their locality. The 93.7% of total enrollment at the New York City Community Colleges is also due to the nature of their sponsorship area which includes a five county area and a population of almost 8 million people.

Another major use of data in residence is to determine the extent to which students from outside the state, both nationwide and foreign, are being served by S.U.N.Y. institutions. The numbers are available for each college and each state within the report and Table 1 shows them to be a small percentage of the total enrollment with the possible exception of the 18.5% of the students attending the Statutory Colleges who have permanent residences in some other state. In respect to foreign students, the percentages range from 6.7% of the total enrollment at Statutory Colleges to .5% at the Agricultural and Technical Colleges.

In the case of the out-of-state students who are U.S. citizens, Table 5 shows that the largest numbers come from contiguous states such as New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Massachusetts. It should be kept in mind that the latest college student migration study conducted by the U.S. Office of Education in 1968 showed that New York sent many more students, 55,716, to public and private institutions in other states than its private and public institutions received from other states; of the 55,716 students in this net out migration, 36,726 went to public institutions in other states.¹

The last section of this report provides the percentage trends in permanent residences of full-time students for each year from 1959 through 1972. Most colleges show a rise in the percentage of total students from their county of location or sponsorship area, an increase of 2.8% at state-operated institutions and 9% at the community colleges, over the twelve-year period. The categories of "Other New York Counties" and the "Rest of the U.S." show corresponding decreases with foreign students increasing slightly over an eleven-year period, 1.5% at state-operated institutions and 1% at community colleges.

GLOSSARY

COUNTY OF LOCATION - refers to the county in which the institution is located.

CREDIT COURSE STUDENTS - those enrolled in one or more courses that award credit hours upon completion which can be used to meet the requirements of a degree, diploma, or certificate.

FULL-TIME STUDENTS (GRADUATE) - those enrolled for 9 or more credit hours.

FULL-TIME STUDENTS (UNDERGRADUATE) - those enrolled for 12 or more credit hours.

GRADUATE STUDENTS - those who hold a bachelor's degree and are also enrolled in at least one course for post-undergraduate credit.

PART-TIME STUDENTS (GRADUATE) - those enrolled for 1-8 credit hours.

PART-TIME STUDENTS (UNDERGRADUATE) - those enrolled for 1-11 credit hours.

PERMANENT RESIDENCE - the county, state or country of which the student is a legal resident (i.e., the place where he intends to remain indefinitely). A student's current address would not be his permanent residence if he is residing there mainly for the purpose of attending college.

SPONSORSHIP AREA - an area comprising one or more counties which sponsors a State University of New York Community College. Local governments share the financial support of the college and the appointment of the college's Board of Trustees with the state government.

STATE-OPERATED INSTITUTIONS - a category of State University institutions which includes all institutions except the community colleges.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS - those who do not hold a bachelor's degree or if they do hold that degree, are enrolled only in credit courses which earn bachelor's level credit.
